

Alessandra Prunotto, Research Analyst & Executive Assistant

Overview of expertise

Alessandra specialises in qualitative research and storytelling. She strives to engage sensitively with her collaborators to produce meaningful research that facilitates positive social and environmental change.

Alessandra has an academic background in anthropology, with experience working in multidisciplinary research teams. Having been employed at a market/social research company since graduating, she has also lent qualitative support to projects for WorkSafe, EDL, University of Technology Sydney and Greater Bank.

Now at the start of her career in evaluation and design, Alessandra assists Clear Horizon's CEO with research tasks, diary management and client communications.

Project experience

Qualitative methods

- Conducted in-depth interviews for EDL and HP
- Managed online research forums for UTS and WorkSafe
- Skilled in Atlas.ti and NVivo data analysis software
- Conducted desktop research and literature reviews for several projects

Report/proposal writing

- Contributed to final research reports for WorkSafe, HP and the Jagajaga #RightTrack Conversations Project
- Drafted a successful proposal to conduct research for UTS

Facilitation

- Facilitated community conversations for the Jagajaga #RightTrack Conversations Project

Qualifications & Training

- 2019 – Clear Horizon workshop: Evaluating Place-based Approaches
- 2018 – Bachelor of Arts (Honours), anthropology

Positions held

- 2019 – Secretary of the Australian Network of Student Anthropologists
- 2018-19 – Graduate Research Analyst at Engine

Memberships

- Australian Anthropological Society
- The Australian Network of Student Anthropologists